CLACKAMAS COUNTY

ITS TOWNS FARM PRODUCTS AND POLITICS

[FROM OUR TRAVELING CORRESPONDENT]

OREGON CITY, March 25 1874

The spring has opened most favorably everything looks bright and cheerful The farmers are as busy as bees preparing for planting spring wheat Great progress is being made in clearing the timbered land in which Clackamas county abounds There will be a large quantity of soil cultivated this year compared with last season. The signs of industry are obvious and gratifying While men are busy at the plow, with the spade and the ax the women are putting their houses and gardens in good condition Spring is a charming time in the natural world, and is a precious period in human life. It is then that youth is made or unmade If good principles are established, the mind and heart well cultivated, the results will be accordingly What is sown in youth will produce corresponding fruit afterwards While the country is so attractive at this season of the year the country towns are generally dull and little business doing The business man has reaped his harvest and the farmer is preparing for another one.

MILWAUKIE

Is an illustration of this statement It is not only remarkably dull at this season of the year, but it has all the appearance of decay which is likely to prove fatal as a place of business. There are two matters worth noticing at this place

THE STANDARD FLOURING MILL

Has been thoroughly repaired and in full working order since January Its former reputation for making choice flour was equal to any mill in the State The flour made now is fully equal to its former high character The mill runs four pair of burrs, can make an average of 125 barrels of flour a day, it has the advantage of a fine waterpower and a first class miller

MR LUELLING'S ORCHARDS

Are the second redeeming feature of Milwaukie. He has fifteen acres containing the choicest kinds of apple, pear, cherry peach, plum, and prune trees and grape vines, as well as currents, raspberries blackberries and gooseberries besides 100,000 of these varieties in his nursery His fruit house for curing and his fruit shed for sorting and packing fruit for market, are models of neatness and completeness. He sold last year $2 000 worth of fruit. It will be a very interesting place to visit during the summer months Mr Luelling's brother planted the first fruit trees in the Willamette valley which he brought with him across the plains in the early days of immigration to Oregon These facts go to show how well the soil and climate of the valley are adapted for raising choice fruits, how profitable it is to those who understand the business and how indolent and criminal the farmers are who are allowing the great majority of their orchards to run into mere scrub

OREGON CITY

Is holding its own cleverly Business is very dull at present, arising from the fact that farmers are very busy on their farms The splendid water power at this place should have made it a much more important place than it is at present and its growth rapid as a manufacturing center That it will be so in time there can be but little doubt The rebuilding of

THE OREGON CITY WOOLEN MILL

Is a matter of great importance to the place creditable to the enterprise of the proprietors and honorable to the manufacturing interests of the State. There are 24 looms 8 jacks 7 sets of cards and 4 gigs, in full working order besides all the machinery for preparing and finishing There are 35 000 yards of goods made each month embracing blankets flannels cassimeres and tweeds About 500 000 pounds of wool are used in the year A hundred persons are employed in the different departments. The demand for the goods is steadily increasing orders have been from three to six months ahead of the work The mill has been running fifteen hours a day for months, and is doing so now preparing goods for the spring trade The principal markets are Portland and San Francisco

THE IMPERIAL AND OREGON CITY FLOUR MILLS

Have done a large and profitable business during the year. Mr C V Church one of the purchasers of the latter mill, intends making San Francisco his headquarters in a short time to look after the interests of the firm in that market.

THE WHEAT RAISED IN CLACKAMAS COUNTY

Is very limited compared with the size of the county and other portions of the Willamette valley There were only shipped of this county wheat

	Bushels
From Aurora.	1 000
To Oregon City	1 000
To Portland	1 000
From other points	1 000
Total	[illegible] 000

This makes, for the eight wheat counties of the Willamette valley 4 028 30[illegible] bushels shipped and ready for shipping from the harvest of 1873

THE POLITICIANS OF CLACKAMAS COUNTY

Are coming to the front The leaders of the ring in the Republican party think that their ticket will carry the State The Democrats are sanguine of coming out ahead by 200 majority The Independents say they have a fair prospect of running the winning ticket One thing is certain—there never was such a spirit of independent opinion and action among the citizens of this county as prevails at present. The days of party rule and political despotism are numbered With the fall of personal slavery political and mental slavery are meeting with the same happy fate These great events have been hastened by the combinations and corrupt practices of the great railroad monopolists who have used the generous gifts of the nation as a means to corrupt politicians and buying up legislatures for their own selfish purposes thereby undermining the foundations of political life and corrupting the moral principles of the nation—making us politically a by-word and a reproach among the civilized nations of the world

GRANT COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE

ANOTHER CONVENTION AND SOME MORE NOMINATIONS

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

The Republican delegates met in Convention at the Court-House on last Wednesday and were called to order by Phil Metschan Chairman of the Central Committee Judge F C Sels was chosen temporary Chairman and W H Kelly, Secretary After the Chairman stated the object of the Convention, upon motion two committees were appointed one on credentials and one on permanent organization and order of business

The Convention then took a recess for half an hour to give the committees time to report

At the expiration of half an hour the Convention was called to order when the report of the committee on credentials was read and after some squabbling as to the right of two delegates from one of the precincts who had been elected by four Democrats and three Chinamen to hold their seats in the Convention they were, upon motion rejected, after which the report was adopted.

Next was the adoption of the report of the committee on permanent organization and order of business The report of the committee on permanent organization recommended the following gentlemen as officers of the Convention, who were each duly elected F C Sels Chairman W H Kelly, Secretary M Howe Assistant Secretary John Manwaring Sergeant-at-Arms, John Laycock and G Overholt Tellers

Upon the first ballot Phil Metschan Frank McBean and C N Thornberry were chosen delegates to the State Republican Convention, they being the only delegates in nomination

Then came the nomination of a candidate for State Senator whereupon A Eads C N Thornberry and Judge Whitten were placed in nomination The last named gentleman not being a candidate was nominated without authority A Eades received the nomination of the Convention M V B Thompson and C N Thornberry were then named for Assemblymen the latter declining Thompson was declared the nominee

J W Church, J A Holmes and J F Woltinger were put in nomination for County Judge The ballot resulted in the nomination of Mr Church

There being no nominations for Sheriff except the present incumbent, W P Gray he was declared the unanimous choice of the Convention for that office

Phil Metschan and D B Rinehart were nominated for County Clerk Rinehart with a flushed face though steady voice, in a very polite manner which seemed to say I know how it is done, declined to be a candidate and Metschan was declared the nominee by acclamation

Several ballots were had upon S C Hillis A Hackney and D Saltenstal, for County Treasurer, which finally resulted in Saltenstal's nomination

A second ballot resulted in the nomination of Robert Damon and Wm Claffin for County Commissioners

Sam French the present Assessor, was nominated for that office by acclamation

Klinkenbeard was nominated for Surveyor and W H Kelley for School Superintendent a very important office by the way, and one that should be filled by a competent person Kelley can do it

Coroner went begging as such measures of retrenchment are proposed that we do not expect anybody to die

As we were in the Convention but a few minutes we cannot give their platform in detail and will therefore refer to what they resolved to do generally And just at this point we are informed that the Independents present who have been complaining of heavy taxation and an increase of indebtedness were furnished with a real refreshing season To see the old fashioned Repubs come into convention and Resolve to favor the most rigid economy in the management of our public affairs and Resolve that the law allowing the thirty three and one third per centum allowed officers in this county as additional compensation, should be repealed; and Resolve that the Sheriff and Clerk should receive a compensation equal to that of persons engaged in like occupation

There were several other resolutions expressive of their opposition to monopolies—the amendment of some of our laws relating to roads—also an increase of pay for Legislators and County Commissioners all of which were adopted except as to the increased pay Perhaps the Convention thought that many of the members of our Legislature already received full as much as their services were worth This would be a sufficient reason for ourself at least

At the close of the Convention Bro. Gad was called for who came forward and as we are informed told those in the Convention and out of it that he would be glad to have them all vote for him As he was the only candidate called for no doubt he was the exponent of all the candidates

We had some apprehensions for the success of the Republican party for notwithstanding they failed to nominate a Coroner we feared seriously the result of the Convention on some of the successful as well as the unsuccessful ones and it may prove fatal yet I need not describe to you how the unsuccessful ones looked or acted this we have seen so often but if you can just call to mind how you felt when you were a boy when your papa brought you home a new pair of boots then you can tell how some of the candidates who never had on a new political suit before felt and acted I really thought some of them would go into a conniption fit But they will think quite different when they go out with their new suit on and fall down in the mud a few times and get them all bedaubed

I fear I have written too much already I will close The Independents hold their convention on Wednesday next We may have a little pruning for the candidates of the different parties when they all get a full corps in the field

CHARLES SUMNER

THE VOICE OF THE AMERICAN PRESS

[From the N Y Tribune March 1[illegible]

The most [illegible] and illustrious name which the Senate has in recent years borne upon its roll has disappeared from them forever Charles Sumner has not only left no equal in the Capitol he has carried away with him the traditions of that profound and scholarly statesmanship which the world was once accustomed to associate with the name of Senator [illegible] We [illegible] but a slender hope that Massachusetts will send to the Senate any representative that will not seem insignificant beside the august shade which now does her such infinite honor

If not from Massachusetts certainly from no quarter is any hand stretched forth to catch the torch which drops from the failing grasp of the great athlete fallen by the way No one in recent years perhaps no one in all our history ever entered public life so richly freighted with every quality which commands success and insures respect Mind and body alike he was cast in nature's happiest mold Tall symmetrical and powerful in frame with a bearing more kinglike than that of any king we know about a voice of exhaustless strength and singular melody and volume a command of words only surpassed by his affluence of ideas a genius of powerful imitative strength ened and disciplined by a scholarship as practical as it was profound, he was an orator of the best and most massive kind, worthy to rank with the few great speakers who have illustrated the statesmanship of past ages For he was statesman no less than orator There was nothing of Cicero's rhetorician about him He never talked for mere intellectual gratification He was sometimes accused of this by those in whose eyes his scholarship was a sin, but the truth is that no one in either House ever restricted his speeches more rigorously to the discussion of living and practical themes That he made them eloquent and learned as well as convincing was no detriment to their energy and force

In another place we have given the record of the years full of labor and of glory which he gave to the service of his country Few lives in history are so spotless or so consistent His fame is as stainless as that of any hero of romance He has never been accused even by that partisan malice which so relentlessly pursued him, of a single dishonest or dishonorable act His life has no contrasts no brusque returns For us, who have had only words of honor and reverence for him while he lived our only care now is to forbear from that over-praise which comes from a proud and loving sorrow No eulogy is needed now The malice which came from envy will be disarmed by death and his fame will be safe in the keeping of the country he served so purely We have lost him when we needed him most—but we can still be thankful for the example he has left of a life which cannot be studied without benefit, and which cannot be imitated too closely

[From the N Y Times March 1[illegible]]

No common loss has fallen upon the country in the death of Charles Sumner A man of vast acquirements, high ability, distinguished services to humanity large experience in public affairs, his fame was more than national As scholar, statesman, and philanthropist he was known in all civilized lands and was everywhere regarded as an honor to his country He was ever foremost in the defense of the fundamental principles of freedom to which his life was devoted, and there was reason to believe that occasions might arise in the future when he might add to his already heavy load of honors His presence in affairs was yet needed at home it was still looked upon abroad as illustrating the highest phase of American public life He took an active interest in the problems of the present and his aid would have been of great value in their solution His death, at the comparatively early age of sixty three must therefore be regarded as a public calamity

* * * * * * *

The purity of Mr Sumner's character would alone cause him to be remembered gratefully by his country. No breath of suspicion ever touched him In an age when corruption too often enters into public life Mr Sumner preserved his character free from all reproach He was never found involved in any disreputable scheme—he had nothing to fear from disclosures or investigations He was absolutely proof against the evil influences of Washington—he seldom asked for an office for any man and never took a part in underhanded intrigues His example in this respect is one of inestimable value to younger men who are entering the field of politics There are not too many like him in any age or country and he could ill be spared from the councils of the nation at a time when the standard of public life is not being very perceptibly elevated and when "Butlerism" threatens to take the place of statesmanship

[Chicago Tribune, March 12]

A great man has fallen Charles Sumner Senator from Massachusetts died in Washington City yesterday in the 64th year of his age Twenty third years consecutively has he held the exalted place in which death found him and during all that time has he been a conspicuous figure in American history He had achieved all the fame that he could possibly acquire for not even the Presidency could have added anything to it He had lived to see the great labor of his life crowned with full fruition His life had been no fitful fever but a well rounded noble and calm achievement and he sleeps well

[N Y Herald March 1[illegible]]

What will be mourned to day not only in America but in other lands, was that sincerity and honesty and courage which he possessed beyond any man of his time It was the spirit of Samuel Adams that lived again, and Sumner goes down to the grave followed by the affection and sorrow of a nation who honored him for his Roman integrity for his Puritan firmness to truth and duty, for the courage with which he suffered for his faith and who will remember him and point him out to their children as one of the most virtuous men of his age.

[Albany (N Y) Journal Mar h 11]

Charles Sumner rests between life and death Before these words are read his spirit may have taken its flight Indeed, the announcement that he was already dead was flashed over the land this afternoon and sent a chill to millions of hearts

This sad intelligence which comes with the [illegible] of the lightning stroke will awaken the deepest sorrow throughout the country Mr Sumner had his faults He has made his mistakes In our recent history he has tried the hearts of his best friends He has provoked, as he has given severe words But his greatness immeasurably outweighs the little flaws on the surface his splendid devotion to human rights shines far above the mistakes of temporary passion and the lustre of his elevated character reaching with its influence far into history makes the objects of our criticism seem trivial and insignificant

[St Paul Press March 1[illegible]]

In the highest sense of the term he was not a statesman that is his abilities were not of the practical executive order He was more properly an agitator of the highest type—a tribune of the people and he came further to fill the role of Cicero than of Cæsar—of Demosthenes than of Pericles His whole public life was devoted to the noblest cause which ever enlisted the efforts or the eloquence of states[illegible] or orator, and his name will go down to history identified with the struggles and triumphs of the anti slavery [illegible] as its most steadfast most eloquent and most famous champion

[Pittsburg (Pa) Gazette March [illegible]]

He follows [illegible] quickly after Fillmore and his death will fall [illegible] the nation He has well [illegible] for himself the title of statesman and has borne it in honor for many years Of incorruptible integrity he has never been suspected as having a part in any corrupt Congressional scheme

[Washington Chronicle March 1[illegible]]

His name and fame will live while the recollections of the historic events in which he has been so prominent an actor remain The country can not forget him the people whom he has so devotedly served will cherish the memory of his labors in their behalf while life shall last Honored be the man [illegible] true patriot and friend! Farewell!

[New York Evening Express]

He was a man of great moral courage as when he long ago stood almost alone in the Senate battling for freedom to the negro and as when he dared both to differ from the President and from his party and especially when he presented and pressed his resolutions against preserving the battle flags of opposing States in the Union archives

[Boston Journal]

The very presence of such a man is a refreshment and re-enforcement to the age in which he lives When there is added one of those great elemental occasions which come only at rare intervals in the history of the race we have that conjunction of the hour and the man which colors and affects the destinies of the world Such was the felicity of Charles Sumner and wherever the cause of humanity has either sufferers or victors through all time, his name will be a rallying cry a proud remembrance a perpetual inspiration

[Boston Globe]

God bless him must be the exclamation of every true American heart The life was stormy the death was serene Let us bend before the majesty of death, and pay homage to what the coffin contains though some of us may have opposed the living form as it proudly appeared in the Senate Charles Sumner What does the name mean? It means inflexible personal integrity, and unshakable trust in the progress of humanity It means everything which is sought for in our schools of science and prayed for in our churches It means grand enthusiasm, learning thought rich culture patriotism, philanthropy It means all that can advance humanity to the fulfillment of its high destiny God bless him!

[From a Louisville dispatch March 1[illegible]]

The Courier Journal to day contains a long and feeling double leaded notice of the death of Charles Sumner Among other things it says "Fifteen years ago the news that Chas Sumner was dead would have been received with something like rejoicing by the people of the South Ten years ago they would have hailed it as a message from heaven telling them that an enemy had been removed from the face of the earth To day they will read it regretfully and their comment will be He was a great man, He was an honest man As he has forgiven us so have we long ago forgiven him

The Astorian says "On chopping an old trunk of a fir tree in the vicinity of Fort Clatsop a few days ago Mr W H Smith discovered some bullets, and obtained them which had been deposited there by Lewis and Clarke The trunk indicated that the tree was 120 years old and it was 69 years ago these bullets where shot into it. About fifteen or twenty years ago the tree had been struck by lightning"

The Eugene City Journal says: Large plantations of hops are being set in various portions of the State this spring Several tracts have been planted in this county where they are found to do first rate The demand for roots has been so great that dealers have been unable to supply it California planters have written here for them as that State has not been able to raise sufficient plants for their own use There are thousands of acres in Lane county which might be made into the finest hop yards in the country

MISS LINDA GILBERT

The New York Sun tells the following story about Miss Linda Gilbert remembered here for her prison library work, her libel suit against the Post etc

As Miss Linda Gilbert, who has done so much for the inmates of prisons in all parts of the country was walking down Broadway recently she was gently tapped on the shoulder Turning she saw a well dressed man, who bowed and smiled Thinking that she had been insulted she was about to proceed on her way but was arrested by the words

Miss Gilbert don't you remember me?

She looked sharply at the man for a few minutes He extended his hand saying Don't you remember me in Joliet, the State Prison of Illinois?

Why Charley —— said she What are you doing here

He blushed and bowed

Are you at your old business? she asked He had been a notorious pickpocket and burglar and had served several terms in State prisons He was well educated was handsome and might have been mistaken for an honest industrious person in well to do circumstance Seeing that they might have too many listeners in the street Miss Gilbert invited the man to her home, saying that she wished to have a long talk with him He called that evening

Well Charley said she greeting him cordially what have you done since you arrived in the city

Half closing his eye lids, he answered I took a watch and $500 yesterday

I am sorry for you said Miss Gilbert I want you to be a better man Why will you always live with the State Prison staring you in the face? Why do you not settle down to some honest employment You have wonderful ability and can conduct an honorable business

He turned his head unable to look into the face of the earnest women before him and replied

"What shall I do?

Return the watch and money you stole while here and then come to me said Miss Gilbert and I will assist you I will see that you are not punished and try to put you into some good work

He promised that he would restore the watch and money and went away The next evening he was again at Miss Gilbert's He told her that he went to the office of the gentleman he had robbed and handed back the watch and money and that the gentleman without saying anything gave him $100

Here is $[illegible]00 more said Miss Gilbert handing him that amount and adding now I will get you into business

A small cigar store in one of the avenues on the West Side was procured for him and he is doing a good business None of his neighbors know that he was ever a professional pickpocket and burglar and all have great confidence in him and believe him an upright, honorable man as he tells Miss Gilbert he will always be

THE TERRITORIES

The Seattle Dispatch says that Messrs Garfielde and Blinn are each going to build a steamboat at Seattle

Bro Levi Leland, on Thursday of last week organized Morning Star Lodge No 48 at Brush Prairie in Clarke county, W T, with forty charter members

The cars on all the lines of the street railway in Salt Lake City were compelled to stop running on Tuesday of last week by reason of the great depth of snow

The Olympia ladies Praying League held a rousing meeting last Tuesday afternoon at Good Templars hall Much enthusiasm prevailed and the League mean business About fifty women were present

Messrs Battersby Rutledge and Davis, of San Francisco have arrived at Seattle for the purpose of making arrangements to develop a coal mine discovered on Cedar river about seventeen miles from Seattle

The Salt Lake Tribune says: At the depth of 270 feet the Dolly Varden mine, in Big Cottonwood has struck a large and rich body of ore which, according to an assay made by J McVicker gave $979 silver, and $12 05 gold

The Greeley Tribune says that some of the settlers down the Platte are getting alarmed at the great number of Indians Some 500 are encamped fifty miles this side of Julesburg, and large numbers have crossed from the North Platte

The workmen on the Renton Coal Mine, near Seattle while cutting for a road a few days since discovered a new seam fully seventeen feet wide and entirely distinct from the others on the same claim The coal is of a superior quality

Sing Lee who washes for a living" in Denver had his shebang burned up last Monday night and he says that since his accounts are gone everybody have many shirts at his tub, but no one owes him nothing He thinks the ways of Melican man are peculiar

Bullion is scattered all along the road between Tintic and Provo It seems that many of the wagons engaged in hauling it to the railroad for shipment to Salt Lake broke down, by reason of the bad condition of the roads, and their precious freight is left in the mud or by the wayside

The California arrived at Port Townsend on the 20th en route to Sitka via Victoria and Fort Wrangel She reports a wreck five miles south of Cape Flattery apparently a new vessel of about 300 tons burden, copper painted, and it is thought she may be one of the coasting vessels that run to Coos Bay

The Secretary of War has written to the Governor of Montana, saying that the proposed mining expedition from a point in that Territory, alluded to in circulars recently forwarded by General Custar to the War Department, will not be permitted to move The reason for opposing it is because of the great probability which would attend it of seriously aggravating the Indian troubles now in existence

The Seattle Intelligencer says "A logger, while at work near Eagle Harbor, Bainbridge Island a few days since, accidentally discovered the outcroppings of a coal mine In conversation, he spoke of his discovery to certain parties, who immediately went to the locality, found a vein about six feet thick, close to the water, and then chartered the steamer Blakely for a trip to Olympia Arriving at that place on Thursday last they immediately repaired to the Land Office and secured the prize"

THE TEMPLE OF DIANA OPEN FOR INSPECTION.—By order of the trustees of the British Museum excavations on the sight of the great Temple of Diana at Ephesus were commenced in last October The ground has now been cleared and thoroughly explored for about thirty feet beyond the lowest step of the platform on which the temple was raised Part of the step itself was found in position The temple is found to measure 163 feet 9½ inches by 342 feet 6½ inches, the platform on which it was raised 239 feet 4½ inches by 418 feet 1½ inches The length here given nearly accords with that given by Pliny—425 Roman feet Gold seems to have been plentifully used in the decoration of the temple Remains of brilliant colors are found in numerous fragments, blue, red and yellow being easily distinguished A number of the columns are inscribed on their bases showing that they were dedicated to Artemis by various persons or communities The remains of a wide portico surrounding the temple on three sides have been found Seventy feet from the south side another building in the Grecian Doric style has been discovered which is now being excavated

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Comparatively few persons have any adequate appreciation of the increase of expenditures by the Government in recent times The gross expenditures for the fiscal year of 1840 were $28 220 153 for 1850 $44 604,718 for 1860, $77,055 [illegible] and for 1870 $702 907 842 These figures do not include any war expenses Between 1840 and 1850 the Mexican war occurred, but before 1850 the expenditures had been restored to a peace footing so that during that year there was less money expended than during the next preceding or succeeding Then the civil war intervened between 1860 and 1870 but the minimum of public expenditures since the war, was reached before 1870 Since then expenses have somewhat diminished, however so that they are not so great at the present time as in 1870 In 1873, the gross expenditures were $524 044,597

In 1840, the aggregate population of the United States was 17 069 453 in 1850 it was 23 191,876 in 1860, 31 443,321 and in 1870 38 558,983

Thus it appears that in the decade ending with 1850 the increase of population was about 30 per cent, but the increase of expenses was over 50 per cent. The increase of population for the decade ending with 1860 was nearly 35 per cent, but the increase of expenditures in the same period was about 75 per cent And the increase of population for the decade ending with 1870 was a little less than 24 per cent, but the increase of expenditures for the same period was about 825 per cent taking the expenditures of 1870 for a fair criterion to judge the regular increase, or about 625 per cent taking as a criterion an average year from 1869 to 1873 This last mode of computation gives the least possible increase in expenditures in proportion to increase of population, and is introduced here instead of confining the calculation to 1870, because the expenditures in that year were larger than in the year previous or any subsequent year

Here is subject matter for reflection We have been accustomed to see paraded on all occasions when it could be done, the stunning figures of our rapid growth in population and material wealth, till we never think of looking at the other side of the ledger When we turn our attention to the cash account we may well recoil at the condition in which we find the balance there We have been taught in works on political economy that it costs less per capita to govern a large than a small population, but we must unlearn that now The experience of the American Republic has demonstrated the fallaciousness of such a theory

But what is the explanation of this vast increase of public expenses? Shall we look to the necessity of settling up the accounts contracted in the war and to the subsidies to railways and steamships? There is no longer any expense to speak of, growing out of the war, except the interest account, and our annual expenditures for railway and steamship subsidies amount to less than $25,000 000; so that both these accounts put together account for but a comparatively insignificant portion of this enormous expenditure The bulk of it is swallowed up in what are called the ordinary—most extraordinary—expenses of the Government

Much of this money has gone into political and speculating "jobs,' no doubt, for this is an age of corruption, but this alone will not account for half of it Hundreds of thousands, and even millions may be stolen annually, but not hundreds of millions In the itemized statement of the public account, which is to show where every dollar goes, these matters will all enter, of course, but there will be other items smaller, but multitudinous in number from which it will be seen that the country has grown into habits of extravagance unknown to the preceding generation, and that the management of public affairs has felt the influence of the prevailing extravagance and sympathized with it in every branch to the tune of millions It is not the Congress nor the Executive nor any other department of the Government alone, nor all of them, that are at fault The ideas of the people—the sentiment of the nation—has needed reform The people are awaking to a realization of this truth just now and it is certain that when the reformation has been fully completed among the people, in their individual and social views, the public service will reform itself

ANOTHER VOTER IN A DILEMMA

PORTLAND, March 26 1874

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

You got a Clatsop correspondent out of his difficulty and I would like to have you get me out of mine What is a person to do who participated in the Republican primaries in this city last Saturday at the request of a friend and without thinking much about it, and has since concluded he would prefer the success of the Independent ticket?

Yours truly,

PORTLAND

Our correspondent's question does not appear to us to have much in it—not much in a moral point of view because the attendance at the primaries does not constitute a contract to vote contrary to one's convictions of duty in order to support the ticket which originated them not much as a matter affecting the general result of the contest, because there were not voters enough attended the primaries to make much difference in the result no matter how they may vote

The time to think about these things was before attending the primaries The way to avoid such situations as that which embarrasses our correspondent is to be fully persuaded before taking the preliminary step But for one who has taken that step the thing to do is to consult his conscience, look at the case like a sentient being, and cast such a vote as he believes to be just under the circumstances Be honest with yourself and you can afford to have others differ from you In politics, as in any other department of human affairs, when a man loses his conscience he has very little left that is worth keeping To act contrary to one's convictions of duty, for the sake of a friend, personal or political, is to forfeit one's own self respect and sever the tie that binds his friend to him The way to retain the esteem of a friend whose esteem is worth having, is never to do wrong for his sake

Gen Fitz John Porter's case has been taken up by the Fifth Army Corps which was commanded by him, up to the time of his trial The following circular has been extensively circulated in the Eastern States

Sir At the last annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac the Fifth Corps resolved that an effort should be made to secure the united action of the corps in an endeavor to have the new evidence that was inaccessible at the time of the trial brought forward and a rehearing secured in the case of Gen Fitz John Porter

If you are disposed to join in this movement will you please send your address with that of any others of the old Fifth Corps that you may know to yours very respectfully

DANIEL BUTTERFIELD

Late Col and Bt Maj Gen U S A and Maj Gen Vols Chairman Committee

No 39 Fifth Avenue N Y March 2 1874

It is said that the testimony of Generals Lee and Longstreet is amply sufficient to clear General Porter of the charge on which he was cashiered This evidence of course was beyond the reach of the accused at the time of his trial and for the want of it he has been suffering the ignominy of his sentence for eleven years The movement of the Fifth Army Corps in the interest of their old General should insure him a speedy rehearing

The closing scenes of the Louisiana Legislature are reported at length in Eastern papers The New Orleans Times says that in the House never by any chance were there less than 20 members speaking at once The honorable gentlemen roamed through the hall at their own sweet will at times shouting to catch the Speaker's attention The Evening Picayune told a worse story It stated at first that the appropriation bill was not passed and that when the attention of the House was called to the fact members replied "Oh it don't make any difference we will have it entered on the journal That will do just as well" But William Pitt Kellogg could not endure this attempt to bring the fair fame of Louisiana and his own glorious administration into contempt He telegraphed at once to the court journal at Washington that the Senate adjourned in an orderly and dignified manner and that although "some hilarity and confusion occurred in the House it was by no means unusual" Kellogg is well known and he is undoubtedly right if the newspapers are wrong

If the theory of independent choice of the best men for office without regard to party nominations is not correct it is wonderful that none of the party journals has attempted to show its fallacy We have been all along urging upon voters the duty in these times of peace and unity on all national questions of selecting the very best candidates for their own local interests without stopping to inquire about the opinion those candidates might entertain on the subject of the resolutions of 98, squatter sovereignty or the Kansas Nebraska bill and the ring paper has been denouncing this as treason But it is to be observed that no attempt is ever made to controvert the principle upon which we have based our position—the principle of uniting on material points for the common welfare instead of dividing over immaterial ones What is there wrong about this gentlemen of the party press? 'Don't all speak at once'

Mr Edward Powers the Chicago cloud compeller who proposes to rob the nimble nimbus by heavy artillery discharges is now before Congress urging his claim to an appropriation for testing his theory The Chicago Tribune having spoken jestingly thereof, a brother of the philosopher writes a letter to that journal in which he reminds the Tribune that his brother is a gentleman of unquestioned ability that he is seeking at a good deal of personal expense labor and inconvenience to accomplish a benevolent end that his belief is founded on careful observation of recorded facts and deductions from them and that his treatment of the subject is purely scientific without a shadow of charlatanry He adds the very truthful remark "The subject is a very serious and important one and deserves from thoughtful and studious minds something better than flippancy and sneers"

A gentleman who has just been on a business tour through the interior informs us that in Linn and Marion counties, it is a rare thing to find a person outside the towns who is not openly favoring the Independent movement The people who raise the wheat and the cattle can not understand why they should be burdened with high taxes all their lives to support the men who make politics a trade and political parties a means of their own promotion When they are told that the old parties are as competent to reform the public service and reduce taxation as men chosen without reference to party, they answer that the politicians may be as capable as anybody else but they have been tried and have failed have made unlimited promises in times past and have been guilty of unlimited violations of those promises That is an argument that can not be answered

A railroad bill recently passed by both branches of the Iowa Legislature and which now awaits the signature of Governor Allen contains some very stringent provisions The railroads of the State are divided into three classes—A B C Roads in Class A are allowed to charge 3 cents per mile for the transportation of passengers, in Class B 3½ cents C 4 cents Roads in Class A for freight 10 per cent less than the printed schedule in the bill In Class B 5 per cent more in Class C 20 per cent more The penalties for violation are very severe and the State provides $10 000 for the prosecution of roads to be drawn subject to the order of the Governor An individual may recover five times the amount of damages sustained

The legislatures of the Western States have occupied the leisure hours of their sessions with instructing Congress on many matters of national importance The Dubuque Times says of one of these

The Iowa legislator who wrote to the Lieutenant Governor—

"Dear sir plias tell me whin senters [illegible] the conty to visit the orfin asilum at [illegible] wood —"

voted to instruct our Senators and Representatives at Washington on nine different questions of finance and statesmanship

The good people of Texas thirsted for more holidays and an accommodating Legislature has given them two new ones The 2d of March the day of the declaration of Texan independence will hereafter be a legal holiday in that State and the 21st of April the anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto which accomplished the independence of the State as a historical fact

WHALLEY'S RE-ELECTION TO PARLIAMENT.—It is a question as to who will be most gratified by the re-election of Mr Whalley to Parliament—the successful candidate or Mr Punch Mr Whalley's performances in and out of the House of Commons have supplied the comic papers of England with much humorous matter and to consign him to the oblivion of private life would be to rob them of much of their interest All the journals of London are pointing to Mr Whalley at present the hero of the election He was the No-Popery candidate and his opponent received just 666 votes—the number of the Beast in the Apocalypse It is plain, then, laughs the Pall Mall Gazette that it is the Beast in his own person against whom Mr Whalley has striven and to the delight of the Protestant world successfully striven This may partially compensate for Mr Whalley's recent misfortune in being fined £250 for insisting that Jean Luie the Tichborne witness was a gentleman and a scholar We have no exact parallel with Mr Whalley in this country George Francis Train comes nearer to him than anybody else—Chicago T

FRIDAY MORNING MARCH 27 1874

LEAP FOR LIBERTY —Deputy U S Marshal Williams went down to Astoria on Wednesday morning to arrest a deserting seaman named Murphy who left this city some days previous He succeeded in capturing the fugitive and took the Dixie Thompson for Portland yesterday morning While the steamer was at Kalama yesterday on her way here the sailor made a desperate effort to escape He had been watching an opportunity to escape at every point where the boat touched but being vigilantly guarded failed Just as the steamer was moving away from the wharf Murphy who had been closely eyeing his chances of escape broke away and made a desperate leap He landed a little short of the wharf and fell into the river After a deal of desperate struggling Murphy managed to reach shallow water Some one on the wharf seeing his position gave him a helping hand and assisted him up on the wharf No sooner had Murphy planted his pedestal extremities on the wharf than he broke like a quarter horse Williams who had sprung ashore a few moments later led the absconding tar a lively chase over logs brush and other obstacles The fugitive however was too slow of foot, and Williams overhauled him He now reflects behind bars for the present

IN OPERATION —Several young men have established a telegraph line in this city with offices at the corner of A and First streets Front and Stark First and Alder and at the Post office. The object is to learn the science of telegraphy and when fully mastered the electric spark will fly over the lines with a degree of correctness that will astonish the oldest operator If the young men give the new idea full attention they will afford each other a fund of amusement as well as information in the great science The officers are Charles G Mead, President Eugene D White, Vice President Ed D Tracy Treasurer, Fred Cole, Secretary and Superintendent N S Snyder Assistant Superintendent, Hiram Bennett, Chief Operator We wish the new enterprise success, and we hope the young men will profit by the experience they may obtain while they continue the undertaking

CONTRACT AWARDED —Mr M I Rhawl, the well known plumber and gas fitter of Salem has been awarded the contract of doing the required work in that line on the Hospital, erected by the Sisters of Vancouver Everything is in readiness for the plumber work and Mr Rhawl will commence operations with a number of men at once In the same connection we might state that Mr Rhawl has the plumbing and gasfitting work for the State Capitol He will begin work in a short time on that building, as the intention is to keep up with the masonry and other portions of the work Mr Rhawl enjoys the reputation of being one of the best workmen in his line of business in the State

ENTERTAINMENT—DRAMATIC—MUSICAL —We understand that the members of the Catholic Social Union are making great preparations for their forthcoming Dramatic and Musical Entertainment which will be given some time after Easter in aid of the Catholic Library Association Mr. R. C White has kindly undertaken the management, and from his well known skill and the material at his command, the public may anticipate an excellent performance About 75 members of the Union will participate in the programme

UP THE COLUMBIA —At 6.30 o'clock last evening the weather up the Columbia was as follows

Walla Walla—Rain storm coming up now thermometer 60°

Umatilla—Cloudy, thermometer 54°

Dalles—Cloudy and raining with up-stream wind thermometer, 50°

NOT ARRIVED —It is stated that the $40,000 which was expected to arrive here on the 10th inst., and which was to be used in paying a certain per cent of Montgomery's paper for which the Northern Pacific Railroad Company made themselves responsible by endorsement has not yet come to hand, and the holders of the paper in question are fearful that they will be compelled to forego this long-looked for payment

ACCIDENT —While one of Mr Lloyd Brooke's sons was engaged in the gymnastic exercises at the Bishop Scott Grammar School yesterday he met with an accident by which one of the leaders of the neck was severely strained We have not learned how the young man is getting along under the circumstances though we presume the injuries are not of a character to excite apprehensions as to consequences

RETURNED —Drs Alfred Kinney and Wm Watkins returned last evening from Albany whither they were summoned some days ago to give evidence in the case of State vs Chas Mealey, indicted for manslaughter All the medical testimony has been submitted in the case, and it is probable that the matter will be submitted to the jury to morrow

ANNUAL REPORT —We are indebted to Gen Jeff C Davis for a copy of his annual report submitted to the A A General of the Military Division of the Pacific. The report contains in brief a history of the Modoc Indian difficulties from the commencement of the war until it was brought to a termination in the capture of Capt Jack and his followers.

QUARTERLY EXAMINATIONS —All persons desiring certificates to teach in the public schools of this county, are notified that on Saturday, March 28th, an examination will be held at the Central School House beginning at 9 A M Applicants are requested to provide themselves with writing materials, and come early

SEAMEN DISCHARGED —The seamen belonging to the bark Antioch, who were before U S Commissioner Wilcox on Wednesday charged with desertion by the Captain, and held to answer, were discharged yesterday morning by Judge Deady

PUBLIC SPEAKING —Gov L F Grover candidate for re-election upon the Democratic ticket, will address his fellow citizens upon the political issues of the day at Oro Fino Theater, on Saturday evening next

COMING UP —The barkentine Melancthon is now in the river coming up She will probably arrive here this forenoon This barkentine comes from San Francisco with a large assorted cargo of freight

TEMPERANCE PRAYER MEETING.

Thursday evening there was no Temperance Union Prayer Meeting held at the M E Church However the usual weekly prayer meetings were held in the various churches of the city This evening the Temperance meetings will be resumed at the Taylor street Church On this occasion a number of statistics will be presented relative to the local traffic. The object of the statistics will be to show the quantity of strong drink consumed in this city for one year also the quality of the liquor drank the pernicious and health destroying character of the compounds, adulteration of spirits etc We should advise all who are addicted to the "social glass," and those who indulge a little deeper to attend this meeting. The statistics promise to be unusually interesting as they purpose to set forth the kinds of liquor drank in Portland The meeting will convene at the usual hour

TEMPERANCE CRUSADE

Yesterday forenoon the ladies identified with the present temperance crusade were out again among the saloons of the city They chose an earlier hour for commencing these exercises than on preceding days and also divided themselves into two divisions each visiting saloons situated in different portions of the city at the same time Among the first places visited was that of Mr Keith on First street That gentleman firmly but politely declined to admit the ladies into his main saloon but told them they could occupy the hallway leading from the sidewalk into the bar room As might be expected a large crowd congregated in the vicinity and watched the unusual proceedings with that share of prurient curiosity for which human nature is proverbial Some time was consumed by the ladies in praying and singing During the time these exercises were being held no one entered or departed from the saloon and no liquor was sold On leaving Mr Keith's saloon the ladies wended their way to the Cornucopia Saloon at the corner of Alder and Second streets Here they were permitted to enter and immediately began to sing and pray Close on their heels a large crowd of roughs and rowdies pressed and in a moment filled the bar room to its fullest capacity After conducting devotional exercises for a short time the ladies took their departure In like manner a large number of saloons were entered during the course of the day by these persistent champions of total abstinence Prayers were fervently and devoutly offered up songs of praise were sung and in some instances the assembled crowds were addressed by the ladies in earnest and pleading accents Prominent among the saloons visited during the day was the Oro Fino, presided over by Mr Charles W Knowles About 11 o'clock several ladies appeared before the door of the saloon An elderly gray haired lady, approached Mr Knowles and asked him if there would be any objections to their entering the saloon Charles, with one of his blandest smiles replied Most certainly not ladies you are welcome to enter my saloon and remain as long as you please Thanking him kindly the ladies walked in and began to sing and pray A large number of persons who saw the ladies enter came crowding in and soon filled the room Several in order to manifest their recklessness and indifference came up to the bar threw down money and called for drinks But Mr Knowles told them that he should sell no liquor while the ladies remained in the saloon This announcement caused some surprise among the crowd and those who laid down money, pocketed the same with a rather crest fallen air Just as the ladies were leaving the saloon one of the bevy after returning thanks for the courteous treatment, asked if they might call again to which Mr Knowles replied that they were welcome at any time they should choose to call again To the credit of that gentleman we can say the ladies were accorded at his hands the most courteous treatment and during their brief stay no one was permitted to say or do anything which could offend them During the day the saloon of Walter Moffett was besieged by the ladies but admittance was flatly and peremptorily denied them A number of other saloons were visited in the course of the day With but few exceptions these ladies met with kind and gentlemanly treatment from the saloon keepers Not a single vender of ardent spirits as yet has evinced any disposition to capitulate or compromise So far as human ken reaches the present crusade movement has been wholly destitute of practical results and the contest presents every appearance of being a hopeless one Were not the ladies stimulated and inspired with a sort of infatuated heroism, they should ere this have become disheartened and abandoned further efforts

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Messrs Bradley, Marsh & Co have received the seamless grain bags for which they are agents and announce the fact elsewhere in an advertisement

Dr J F Thompson of this city and Dr Rubel of Dallas were on motion unanimously elected members of the Society

After reading a communication from Dr Geo H Chance formerly of Salem the President J H Hatch delivered his annual address which was, we are informed an able effort and received the hearty approbation of every one present

The Society then adjourned until 2 o'clock P M

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Society met at 2 P M and was called to order by the President

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved

These being in order Dr Wm F Thompson read a paper before the Society which was well received

Dr J R Cardwell being called read a paper on Alveolar Abscess

The subject was taken up for general discussion in which Drs Gray Thompson Skiff E O and H Smith Glenn and others participated at considerable length and to the interest of all parties concerned

The Society then adjourned until 7 o'clock P M

EVENING SESSION

The Society met promptly on time and was called to order by the President

Dr Gray being called upon, read a thesis on "Pathology and Therapeutics in which he referred to an anomalous and interesting case, and requested discussion and the opinion of the Society as to the most effective mode of treatment

The subject was accordingly taken up and an interesting discussion followed in which numerous members participated

On motion the Society adjourned until 10 o'clock A M the following day

Second Day.

MORNING SESSION

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT and the elections are agitating our citizens just now and where to procure a suit of clothing that is bound to wear one that looks well upon a person and one that does not force a man to the bed rock to possess it is a question This is easily answered At that old established house of Beck & Waldman they fill the bill exactly Only take a look through their stock to be convinced Boy's clothing is a specialty at this house and mothers note the fact.

SCIENTIFIC AND SAFE TREATMENT.

When applied with Dr Pierce's Nasal Douche and accompanied with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery as constitutional treatment Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy procures perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh and Ozena of many years standing This thorough course of medication constitutes the only scientific rational safe and successful manner of treating this odious disease that has ever been offered to the afflicted So successful has it proven that the proprietor has long offered a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE

THOS J. BISHOP of South Brooklyn N Y writes that his wife had suffered since a child with Catarrh until it had resulted in what eminent physicians pronounced consumption that she has used Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy with Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and they have worked wonders with her case

STEALING OUR THUNDER

People should beware of those impostors who not only try to imitate Dr Pierce's Family Medicines but also copy his original style of advertising by offering various sized rewards for cases of Catarrh and other diseases which they can not cure Those who do not possess sufficient intelligence to enable them to write original advertisements of their own but have to steal those of others are not likely to have made great and valuable discoveries in Medicine Look out for them

Why go about your business half alive tormented with indigestion weak despondent and spiritless when a course of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS would vitalize build up and make a new Man of you? 1

A RAILROAD EPISODE—TWO TALKATIVE YOUNG LADIES SUBDUED

Loud talkers who publish their pleasures and sorrows to the unwilling listeners in a railroad car are far from being pleasant people to travel with Last Thursday the morning train which left Rochester eastward bound had among hundreds of other passengers two handsome vivacious, voluble young ladies who seemed to take great delight in talking in loud tones of a stylish wedding they had been attending in Rochester. They described as only young women can the scenes at the church the costly and elegant presents the fairy bower-like appearance of the bride's parents house the handsome bride and gallant groom Clyde was reached before the dresses worn were spoken of and when the train stopped a moment for fuel and water the elder of the young ladies went into ecstasies over the garments The trousseau pronounced by the young ladies wonderfully like trousers) she said was the most elegant she had ever seen and reflected much credit upon Worth of Paris who had not spared expense

Sitting directly behind the young ladies was a young gentleman of this city who is given to joking and tiring of listening to the wedding he resolved to turn the conversation Tapping the elder lady lightly upon the shoulder and begging pardon for his impertinence he said in a loud voice — Ladies there is much deception in this country especially in the matter of clothes In the Eastern States cassimeres doeskins and broadcloths are made in imitation of imported goods and none but an expert can detect the difference Now unless you are good judges of cloths, I am inclined to think that you were imposed upon and that the trousers which you described so elaborately were not French goods nor French make, but common Yankee Although I wear trousers myself yet I have often been imposed upon The elder of the ladies was horrified and elevated her nose but the younger saw the joke and bursting into laughter exclaimed —"Trowsers!" Trowsers! Oh I shall die!"

The other passengers, excepting the Oswego man and the indignant young lady, caught the laughter fever, and for a few moments it seemed as though a jar of laughing gas had exploded in the car When the train started again the only remark heard from the indignant and insulted young lady was, "The saucy impudent, horrid brute"

On reaching Syracuse, a gentleman with his wife, who had enjoyed the discomfiture of the young lady, accosted the Oswegonian with "Stranger, let us go and take a drink I have traveled many miles and been troubled much by talkative people but never before have I seen an inveterate talker so effectually squelched"

The story has two morals, which, we trust, may be heeded —Guide your tongue, and be careful how you sling your French Oswego Palladium

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

Comparatively few persons have any adequate appreciation of the increase of expenditures by the Government in recent times The gross expenditures for the fiscal year of 1840, were $28 [illegible] for 1850 $44 604 718 for 1860 $77 [illegible] and for 1870 $702 807 842 These figures do not include any war expenses Between 1840 and 1850 the Mexican war occurred but before 1850 the expenditures had been restored to a peace footing so that during that year there was less money expended than during the next preceding or succeeding Then the civil war intervened between 1860 and 1870 but the minimum of public expenditures since the war was reached before 1870 Since then expenses have somewhat diminished however, so that they are not so great at the present time as in 1870 In 1873 the gross expenditures were $524,044 597

In 1840, the aggregate population of the United States was 17,069 4[illegible] in 1850 it was 23,191 876, in 1860, 31,443 321 and in 1870, 38,555 983

Thus it appears that in the decade ending with 1850 the increase of population was about 30 per cent, but the increase of expenses was over 50 per cent The increase of population for the decade ending with 1860 was nearly 35 per cent but the increase of expenditures in the same period was about 75 per cent And the increase of population for the decade ending with 1870 was a little less than 24 per cent but the increase of expenditures for the same period was about 825 per cent taking the expenditures of 1870 for a fair criterion to judge the regular increase or about 625 per cent. taking as a criterion an average year from 1869 to 1873. This last mode of computation gives the least possible increase in expenditures in proportion to increase of population, and is introduced here instead of confining the calculation to 1870, because the expenditures in that year were larger than in the year previous or any subsequent year

Here is subject matter for reflection We have been accustomed to see paraded on all occasions when it could be done, the stunning figures of our rapid growth in population and material wealth till we never think of looking at the other side of the ledger When we turn our attention to the cash account we may well recoil at the condition in which we find the balance there We have been taught in works on political economy that it costs less per capita to govern a large than a small population, but we must unlearn that now The experience of the American Republic has demonstrated the fallaciousness of such a theory

But what is the explanation of this vast increase of public expenses? Shall we look to the necessity of settling up the accounts contracted in the war and to the subsidies to railways and steamships? There is no longer any expense to speak of growing out of the war, except the interest account, and our annual expenditures for railway and steamship subsidies amount to less than $25,000,000; so that both these accounts put together account for but a comparatively insignificant portion of this enormous expenditure, The bulk of it is swallowed up in what are called the ordinary—most extraordinary—expenses of the Government

Much of this money has gone into political and speculating "jobs," no doubt, for this is an age of corruption, but this alone will not account for half of it Hundreds of thousands, and even millions may be stolen annually, but not hundreds of millions In the itemized statement of the public account, which is to show where every dollar goes, these matters will all enter, of course, but there will be other items smaller, but multitudinous in number, from which it will be seen that the country has grown into habits of extravagance unknown to the preceding generation, and that the management of public affairs has felt the influence of the prevailing extravagance and sympathized with it in every branch to the tune of millions It is not the Congress nor the Executive nor any other department of the Government alone, nor all of them, that are at fault. The ideas of the people—the sentiment of the nation—has needed reform The people are awaking to a realization of this truth just now, and it is certain that when the reformation has been fully completed among the people, in their individual and social views, the public service will reform itself

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

You got a Clatsop correspondent out of his difficulty and I would like to have you get me out of mine What is a person to do who participated in the Republican primaries in this city last Saturday at the request of a friend and without thinking much about it and has since concluded he would prefer the success of the Independent ticket?

Yours truly,

PORTLAND

Our correspondent's question does not appear to us to have much in it—not much in a moral point of view, because the attendance at the primaries does not constitute a contract to vote contrary to one's convictions of duty in order to support the ticket which originated them not much as a matter affecting the general result of the contest, because there were not voters enough attended the primaries to make much difference in the result no matter how they may vote

The time to think about these things was before attending the primaries The way to avoid such situations as that which embarrasses our correspondent is to be fully persuaded before taking the preliminary step But for one who has taken that step the thing to do is to consult his conscience look at the case like a sentient being, and cast such a vote as he believes to be just under the circumstances Be honest with yourself, and you can afford to have others differ from you In politics as in any other department of human affairs, when a man loses his conscience he has very little left that is worth keeping To act contrary to one's convictions of duty, for the sake of a friend personal or political is to forfeit one's own self respect and sever the tie that binds his friend to him The way to retain the esteem of a friend whose esteem is worth having is never to do wrong for his sake

Gen Fitz John Porter's case has been taken up by the Fifth Army Corps which was commanded by him up to the time of his trial The following circular has been extensively circulated in the Eastern States

SIR At the last annual reunion of the Army of the Potomac the Fifth Corps resolved that an effort should be made to secure the united action of the corps in an endeavor to have the new evidence that was inaccessible at the time of the trial brought forward and a rehearing secured in the case of Gen Fitz John Porter

If you are disposed to join in this movement will you please send your address with that of any others of the old Fifth Corps that you may know to yours very respectfully

DANIEL BUTTERFIELD

Late Col and Bt Maj Gen U S A and Maj Gen Vol Chairman Committee

No 3[illegible] Fifth Avenue N Y March [illegible] 1874

It is said that the testimony of Generals Lee and Longstreet is amply sufficient to clear General Porter of the charge on which he was cashiered This evidence of course was beyond the reach of the accused at the time of his trial, and for the want of it he has been suffering the ignominy of his sentence for eleven years The movement of the Fifth Army Corps in the interest of their old General should insure him a speedy rehearing

The closing scenes of the Louisiana Legislature are reported at length in Eastern papers The New Orleans Times says that in the House never by any chance were there less than 20 members speaking at once The honorable gentlemen roamed through the hall at their own sweet will at times shouting to catch the Speaker's attention The Evening Picayune told a worse story It stated at first that the appropriation bill was not passed and that when the attention of the House was called to the fact members replied "Oh it don't make any difference we will have it entered on the journal That will do just as well" But William Pitt Kellogg could not endure this attempt to bring the fair fame of Louisiana and his own glorious administration into contempt He telegraphed at once to the court journal at Washington that the Senate adjourned in an orderly and dignified manner and that although some hilarity and confusion occurred in the House, it was by no means unusual Kellogg is well known and he is undoubtedly right if the newspapers are wrong

If the theory of independent choice of the best men for office, without regard to party nominations is not correct it is wonderful that none of the party journals has attempted to show its fallacy We have been all along urging upon voters the duty in these times of peace and unity on all national questions of selecting the very best candidates for their own local interests, without stopping to inquire about the opinion those candidates might entertain on the subject of the resolutions of 98 squatter sovereignty or the Kansas Nebraska bill and the ring paper has been denouncing this as treason But it is to be observed that no attempt is ever made to controvert the principle upon which we have based our position—the principle of uniting on material points for the common welfare instead of dividing over immaterial ones What is there wrong about this gentlemen of the party press? "Don't all speak at once

Mr Edward Powers the Chicago cloud compeller who proposes to rob the nimble nimbus by heavy artillery discharges is now before Congress urging his claim to an appropriation for testing his theory The Chicago Tribune having spoken jestingly thereof a brother of the philosopher writes a letter to that journal in which he reminds the Tribune that his brother is a gentleman of unquestioned ability that he is seeking at a good deal of personal expense labor and inconvenience to accomplish a benevolent end that his belief is founded on careful observation of recorded facts and deductions from them and that his treatment of the subject is purely scientific without a shadow of charlatantry He adds the very truthful remark "The subject is a very serious and important one and deserves from thoughtful and studious minds something better than flippancy and sneers

A gentleman who has just been on a business tour through the interior informs us that in Linn and Marion counties it is a rare thing to find a person outside the towns who is not openly favoring the Independent movement The people who raise the wheat and the cattle can not understand why they should be burdened with high taxes all their lives to support the men who make politics a trade and political parties a means of their own promotion When they are told that the old parties are as competent to reform the public service and reduce taxation as men chosen without reference to party they answer that the politicians may be as capable as anybody else but they have been tried and have failed have made unlimited promises in times past and have been guilty of unlimited violations of those promises That is an argument that can not be answered

A railroad bill recently passed by both branches of the Iowa Legislature and which now awaits the signature of Governor Allen contains some very stringent provisions The railroads of the State are divided into three classes—A B C Roads in Class A are allowed to charge 3 cents per mile for the transportation of passengers in Class B 3½ cents C 4 cents Roads in Class A for freight 10 per cent less than the printed schedule in the bill In Class B 5 per cent more in Class C [illegible] per cent more The penalty for violation are very severe and the State provides $10 000 for the prosecution of roads to be drawn subject to the order of the Governor An individual may recover five times the amount of damages sustained

The legislatures of the Western State have occupied the leisure hours of their sessions with instructing Congress on various matters of national importance The Dubuque Times says of one of these

Dear sir please tell me which sisters in the county to vote the [illegible] word —

voted to instruct our Senators and Representatives at Washington on nine different questions of finance and statesmanship

The good people of Texas thirsted for more holidays and [illegible] Legislature has given them two new ones The 2d of March, the day of the declaration of Texan independence will hereafter be a legal holiday in that State and the 21st of April the anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto which accomplished the independence of the State a historical fact

WHALLEY'S RE-ELECTION TO PARLIAMENT —It is a question as to who will be most gratified by the re-election of Mr Whalley to Parliament—the successful candidate or Mr Punch Mr Whalley's performances in and out of the House of Commons have supplied the comic papers of England with mild humorous matter and to consign him to the oblivion of private life would be to rob them of one of their interests All the journals [illegible] are pointing to Mr Whalley at present the he o of the [illegible] He was [illegible] No Pope candidate and his opponent received just 666 vote —the number of the Beast in the Apocalypse. It is plain then, laughs the Pall Mall Gazette that it is the Beast in his own person against whom Mr Whalley has striven and, to the delight of the Protestant world successfully striven This may partially compensate for Mr Whalley's recent misfortune in being fined £250 for insisting that Dean Lunes the Tichborne witness was a gentleman and a scholar We have no exact parallel with Mr Whalley in this country [illegible] come nearer to him than any [illegible] —Chicago Tribune

LEAP FOR LIBERTY —Deputy U S Marshal Williams went down to Astoria on Wednesday morning to arrest a deserting seaman named Murphy who left this city some days previous He succeeded in capturing the fugitive and took the Dixie Thompson for Portland yesterday morning While the steamer was at Kalama yesterday on her way here the sailor made a desperate effort to escape He had been watching an opportunity to escape at every point where the boat touched but being vigilantly guarded failed Just as the steamer was moving away from the wharf Murphy who had been closely eyeing his chances of escape broke away and made a desperate leap He landed a little short of the wharf and fell into the river After a deal of desperate struggling Murphy managed to reach shallow water Some one on the wharf seeing his position gave him a helping hand and assisted him up on the wharf No sooner had Murphy planted his pedestal extremities on the wharf than he broke like a quarter horse Williams who had sprung ashore a few moments later led the absconding tar a lively chase over logs brush and other obstacles The fugitive however was too slow of foot and Williams overhauled him He now reflects behind bars for the present

IN OPERATION —Several young men have established a telegraph line in this city with offices at the corner of A and First streets Front and Stark First and Alder and at the Post-office The object is to learn the science of telegraphy and when fully mastered the electric spark will fly over the lines with a degree of correctness that will astonish the oldest operator If the young men give the new idea full attention they will afford each other a fund of amusement as well as information in the great science The officers are Charles C. Mead, President Eugene D White Vice President Ed D Tracy Treasurer, Fred Cole Secretary and Superintendent N S Snyder Assistant Superintendent Hiram Bennett, Chief Operator We wish the new enterprise success, and we hope the young men will profit by the experience they may obtain while they continue the undertaking

CONTRACT AWARDED —Mr M J Rhawl the well known plumber and gas fitter of Salem, has been awarded the contract of doing the required work in that line on the Hospital erected by the Sisters of Vancouver Everything is in readiness for the plumber work, and Mr Rhawl will commence operations with a number of men at once In the same connection we might state that Mr Rhawl has the plumbing and gasfitting work for the State Capitol He will begin work in a short time on that building, as the intention is to keep up with the masonry and other portions of the work Mr Rhawl enjoys the reputation of being one of the best workmen in his line of business in the State.

ENTERTAINMENT—DRAMATIC—MUSICAL —We understand that the members of the Catholic Social Union are making great preparations for their forthcoming Dramatic and Musical Entertainment, which will be given some time after Easter in aid of the Catholic Library Association Mr R. C White has kindly undertaken the management and from his well known skill, and the material at his command, the public may anticipate an excellent performance. About 75 members of the Union will participate in the programme

Walla Walla—Rain storm coming up now thermometer, 60°

Umatilla—Cloudy, thermometer 54°

Dalles—Cloudy and raining, with up-stream wind thermometer, 50°

NOT ARRIVED —It is stated that the $40 000 which was expected to arrive here on the 10th inst and which was to be used in paying a certain per cent of Montgomery's paper for which the Northern Pacific Railroad Company made themselves responsible by endorsement has not yet come to hand, and the holders of the paper in question are fearful that they will be compelled to forego this long-looked-for payment.

ACCIDENT —While one of Mr Lloyd Brooke's sons was engaged in the gymnastic exercises at the Bishop Scott Grammar School yesterday he met with an accident by which one of the leaders of the neck was severely strained We have not learned how the young man is getting along under the circumstances though we presume the injuries are not of a character to excite apprehensions as to consequences

RETURNED.—Drs Alfred Kinney and Wm Watkins returned last evening from Albany whither they were summoned some days ago to give evidence in the case of State vs Chas Mealey, indicted for manslaughter All the medical testimony has been submitted in the case, and it is probable that the matter will be submitted to the jury to-morrow

ANNUAL REPORT.—We are indebted to Gen Jeff C Davis for a copy of his annual report submitted to the A A General of the Military Division of the Pacific The report contains in brief a history of the Modoc Indian difficulties from the commencement of the war until it was brought to a termination in the capture of Capt Jack and his followers

QUARTERLY EXAMINATIONS —All persons desiring certificates to teach in the public schools of this county, are notified that on Saturday March 28th, an examination will be held at the Central School House, beginning at 9 A M Applicants are requested to provide themselves with writing materials and come early

SEAMEN DISCHARGED —The seamen belonging to the bark Antioch who were before U S Commissioner Wilcox on Wednesday charged with desertion by the Captain and held to answer were discharged yesterday morning by Judge Deady

PUBLIC SPEAKING —Gov L F Grover candidate for re-election upon the Democratic ticket, will address his fellow citizens upon the political issues of the day at Oro Fino Theater on Saturday evening next

COMING UP —The barkentine Melancthon is now in the river coming up She will probably arrive here this forenoon This barkentine comes from San Francisco with a large assorted cargo of freight

TEMPERANCE PRAYER MEETING.

Thursday evening there was no Temperance Union Prayer Meeting held at the M E Church However the usual weekly prayer meetings were held in the various churches of the city This evening the Temperance meetings will be resumed at the Taylor street church On this occasion a number of statistics will be presented relative to the local traffic The object of the statistics will be to show the quantity of strong drink consumed in this city for the year also the quality of the liquor drank the pernicious and health destroying character of the compounds adulteration of spirits etc We should advise all who are addicted to the "social glass" and those who indulge a little deeper to attend this meeting The statistics promise to be unusually interesting as they purpose to set forth the kinds of liquor drank in Portland The meeting will convene at the usual hour

TEMPERANCE CRUSADE

Yesterday forenoon the ladies identified with the present temperance crusade were once again among the saloons of the city They chose an earlier hour for commencing these exercises than on preceding days and also divided themselves into two divisions each visiting saloons situated in different portions of the city at the same time Among the first places visited was that of Mr Keith on First street That gentleman firmly but politely declined to admit the ladies into his main saloon but told them they could occupy the hallway leading from the sidewalk into the bar room As might be expected a large crowd congregated in the vicinity and watched the unusual proceedings with that share of prurient curiosity for which human nature is proverbial Some time was consumed by the ladies in praying and singing During the time these exercises were being held no one entered or departed from the saloon and no liquor was sold On leaving Mr Keith's saloon the ladies wended their way to the Cosmopolitan Saloon at the corner of Alder and Second streets Here they were permitted to enter and immediately began to sing and pray Close on their heels a large crowd of roughs and rowdies pressed in and in a moment filled the bar room to its fullest capacity After conducting devotional exercises for a short time the ladies took their departure In like manner a large number of saloons were entered during the course of the day by these persistent champions of total abstinence Prayers were fervently and devoutly offered up songs of praise were sung and in some instances the assembled crowds were addressed by the ladies in earnest and pleading accents Prominent among the saloons visited during the day was the Oro Fino, presided over by Mr Charles W Knowles About 11 o clock several ladies appeared before the door of the saloon An elderly gray haired lady approached Mr Knowles and asked him if there would be any objections to their entering the saloon Charles with one of his blandest smiles replied Most certainly not ladies you are welcome to enter my saloon and remain as long as you please Thanking him kindly the ladies walked in and began to sing and pray A large number of persons who saw the ladies enter came crowding in and soon filled the room Several in order to manifest their recklessness and indifference came up to the bar threw down money and called for drinks But Mr Knowles told them that he should sell no liquor while the ladies remained in the saloon This announcement caused some surprise among the crowd and those who laid down money pocketed the same with a rather crest fallen air Just as the ladies were leaving the saloon one of the bevy after returning thanks for the courteous treatment asked if they might call again to which Mr Knowles replied that they were welcome at any time they should choose to call again To the credit of that gentleman we can say the ladies were accorded at his hands the most courteous treatment and during their brief stay no one was permitted to say or do anything which could offend them During the day the saloon of Walter Moffitt was besieged by the ladies but admittance was flatly and peremptorily denied them A number of other saloons were visited in the course of the day With but few exceptions these ladies met with kind and gentlemanly treatment from the saloon keepers Not a single vender of ardent spirits has yet has evinced any disposition to capitulate or compromise So far as human ken reaches the present crusade movement has been wholly destitute of practical results and the contest presents every appearance of being a hopeless one Were not the ladies stimulated and inspired with a sort of infatuated heroism they should ere this have become disheartened and abandoned further efforts

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Messrs Bradley Marsh & Co have received the seamless grain bags for which they are agents and announce the fact elsewhere in an advertisement

Lyon s gloves are articles that will meet with favor with the ladies a large stock of which Clarke & Henderson have laid in This firm are agents for these gloves

Mr Isaac Longstreet is out in a challenge to Henry Prang and others He wants that champion cue Come together gentlemen and give the lovers of the art billiardistic a taste of scientific playing

Messrs B. L Stone and J Simon are off to day by steamer for San Francisco the former to look after something new in the way of jewelry and the latter to purchase new and large supplies of glass, windows etc

Mr P Selling has returned from San Francisco with an immense stock of goods We will not pretend to enumerate Suffice it to say the new goods are something entirely new in this market and are bound to meet with a ready sale The ladies have an opportunity to look over the new goods, as the stock has been assorted and placed on the shelves and a corps of clerks await the presence of a host of fair ones Be sure to call on Selling to day or any time you can make it convenient

Dr J F Thompson of this city and Dr Rubel of Dallas were on motion unanimously elected members of the Society

After reading a communication from Dr Geo H Chance formerly of Salem the President J H Hatch delivered his annual address which was we are informed an able effort and received the hearty approbation of every one present

The Society then adjourned until 2 o clock P M

AFTERNOON SESSION

The Society met at 2 P M and was called to order by the President

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved

The essayist in order Dr Wm F Thompson read a paper before the Society which was well received

Dr J R Cardwell being called read a paper on Alveolar Abscess

The subject was taken up for general discussion in which Drs Gray Thompson Skiff E O and H Smith Glenn and others participated at considerable length and to the interest of all parties concerned

The Society then adjourned until ... o clock P M

EVENING SESSION

The Society met promptly on time, and was called to order by the President

Dr Gray being called upon read a thesis on "Pathology and Therapeutics" in which he referred to an anomalous and interesting case and requested discussion and the opinion of the Society as to the most effective mode of treatment

The subject was accordingly taken up and an interesting discussion followed in which numerous members participated

On motion the Society adjourned until 10 o clock A M the following day

Second Day.

MORNING SESSION

The Society met at 10 o clock A M pursuant to adjournment

The annual election of officers being the next order of business the vote was taken and the following officers were elected to serve during the ensuing year President Dr William F Thompson Vice President Dr J R Cardwell Recording Secretary Dr G W Gray Corresponding Secretary Dr Thomas I Nicklin Treasurer Dr John Welch

A resolution introduced by Dr Koehler thanking the retiring officers for the fair and impartial manner in which they had discharged their various duties, was adopted by a unanimous vote

Dr L Baddle of Corvallis then read a treatise on Deciduous teeth and their treatment

Dr J H Hatch of this city, being called upon read a paper on Sensitive Dentine

The Society then took a recess until 7 o clock P M

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT and the elections are agitating our citizens just now and where to procure a suit of clothing that I bound to wear one that looks well upon a person and one that does not force a man to the bed rock to possess it is a question This is easily answered At that old established house of Beck & Waldman they "fill the bill" exactly Only take a look through their stock to be convinced Boys clothing is a specialty at this house and mothers note the fact.

SCIENTIFIC AND SAFE TREATMENT.

When applied with Dr Pierce Nasal Douche and accompanied with Dr Pierce s Golden Medical Discovery as constitutional treatment Dr Sage s Catarrh Remedy produces perfect cures of the worst cases of Catarrh and Ozena of many years standing This thorough course of medication constitutes the only scientific rational safe and successful manner of treating this odious disease that has ever been offered to the afflicted So successful has it proven that the proprietor has long offered a standing reward of $500 for a case of Catarrh which he cannot cure

INDISPUTABLE EVIDENCE.

THOS J BISHOP of South Brooklyn N Y writes that his wife had suffered since a child with Catarrh until it had resulted in what eminent physicians pronounced consumption that she has used Dr Sage s Catarrh Remedy with Dr Pierce s Golden Medical Discovery, and they have worked wonders with her case

STEALING OUR THUNDER

People should beware of those impostors who not only try to imitate Dr Pierce s Family Medicines but also copy his original style of advertising to offering various sized rewards for cases of Catarrh and other diseases which they can not cure Those who do not possess sufficient intelligence to enable them to write original advertisements of their own but have to steal those of others are not likely to have made great and valuable discoveries in Medicine Look out for them

Why go about your business half alive tormented with Indigestion weak despondent and spiritless when a course of UDOLPHO WOLFE'S SCHIEDAM AROMATIC SCHNAPPS would vitalize build up and make a new Man of you?

A RAILROAD EPISODE—TWO TALKATIVE YOUNG LADIES SUBDUED

Loud talkers who publish their pleasures and sorrows to the unwilling listeners in a railroad car are far from being pleasant people to travel with Last Thursday the morning train which left Rochester eastward bound had among hundreds of other passengers two handsome vivacious voluble young ladies who seemed to take great delight in talking in loud tones of a stylish wedding they had been attending in Rochester They described as only young women can the scenes at the church the costly and elegant presents the flower-like appearance of the bride s parents' house the handsome bride and gallant groom Clyde ... before the dresses worn were spoken of and when the train stopped a moment for fuel and water the elder of the young ladies went into ecstasies over the garments The trousseau ... the young ladies wonderfully like trousers she said was the most elegant she had ever seen and reflected much credit upon Worth of Paris who had not spared expense

Sitting directly behind the young ladies was a young gentleman of this city who is given to joking and tiring of listening to the wedding he resolved to turn the conversation Tapping the elder lady lightly upon the shoulder and begging pardon for his impertinence he said in a loud voice — Ladies there is much deception in this country especially in the matter of clothes In the Eastern States cassimeres doeskins and broadcloths are made in imitation of imported goods and none but an expert can detect the difference Now unless you are good judges of cloths I am inclined to think that you were imposed upon and that the trousers which you described so elaborately were not French goods nor French make but common Yankee Although I wear trousers myself yet I have often been imposed upon" The elder of the ladies was horrified and elevated her nose but the younger saw the joke and bursting into laughter exclaimed — Trowsers! Trowsers! Oh I shall die!

The other passengers excepting the Oswego man and the indignant young lady caught the laughter fever and for a few moments it seemed as though a jar of laughing gas had exploded in the car When the train started again the only remark heard from the indignant and insulted young lady was, The saucy impudent, horrid brute"

On reaching Syracuse a gentleman with his wife, who had enjoyed the discomfiture of the young lady, accosted the Oswegonian with Stranger, let us go and take a drink I have traveled many miles and been troubled much by talkative people but never before have I seen an inveterate talker so effectually squelched"

The story has two morals, which, we trust may be heeded —Guide your tongue, and be careful how you sling your French Oswego Palladium

"BUTLERISM."

[From the N Y Times March 19]

It is a question which we commend to the careful consideration of the Representatives of the Republican Party at Washington whether our party has not had enough of that element in the conduct of its affairs popularly known as "Butlerism." We think it would be well for those who are responsible for the management of the party and for the conspicuous public acts by which it is judged to ask themselves if the country is ready to follow through thick and thin the lead of the Essex Congressman. There seems to be a strong disposition at the national capital to award to that gentleman a remarkable degree of influence and prominence in matters for which nature and training have not conspicuously fitted him. It might be as well to reflect what may be the results upon the fortunes of the party and upon the welfare of the country if this disposition is allowed to go on unchecked. Those who are in daily intercourse with Gen Butler and who enjoy without interruption the peculiar charm of his mind and character may perhaps be excused for falling into an excessive subserviency which is quite inexplicable to the impartial observer at a distance. But as the time has hardly yet come when those whom the party has trusted can be absolved from all responsibility, it is fair to ask whether an otherwise excusable adoration of Mr Butler cannot be carried too far for the interests of Republicanism."

There is very little doubt in our mind that the country at large and especially that portion of its most immediately concerned is a trifle sick of Mr Butler. We do not believe that the famous Simmons matter and the conduct of the National Administration with reference to it has strengthened the Republican Party anywhere. We do not suppose any one will pretend that it has helped the party in New Hampshire or Connecticut and we do not see how, in any reasonable portion of the community it could help us. We have not ourselves taken any part in the "Simmons fight." in the first place because the facts were stoutly disputed on either side and in the second place because it seemed to us a matter that ought to be settled with reference to the better public opinion of Massachusetts and New England. What we regret to perceive is that it has not been so settled, that, on the contrary, the better public opinion from one end to the other of New England is expressing itself as disappointed and outraged by the result. And the origin of this bitter feeling is not so much any special interest in the office of Collector at Boston as in the conviction that Gen Butler has "run" the whole thing. So far as we can judge from the published statements of the Massachusetts Senators and Representatives, this conviction is not without foundation. Butler himself seems to be doing all in his power to strengthen it. He regards himself, and he is generally regarded, as the most influential politician in Washington and the impression that he is so is all the while doing the party harm.

It is not very singular that it should do us harm. Gen Butler is not a fit man to be a party leader. We need not go into any extended analysis of his character to show why he is not. His political history only too familiar to the country, shows it. He has hardly a quality of a successful leader, if we except persistence and boldness. These however are only auxiliary qualities. They are not of the essence of statesmanship. They are needed in a good party leader, but they are not in themselves sufficient to constitute one. In the absence of other and better qualities they may well ruin a leader or a party that will follow him. It is little to say of a man that he is bold even to impudence if he rejects the principles of a party, violates its pledges, breeds faction and division in its ranks, maligns its trusted men, loads it with detestable measures, and subordinates all its interests to an insane ambition. This is in substance what Butler has done, and it is what the party cannot tolerate without sustaining injury, perhaps irretrievable injury.

Certainly the party is passing through difficulties. We think the most sanguine believer in the efficacy of "fixing things" will not deny this. Among the causes of discontent now manifesting themselves is the conviction that our finances are in a very bad way for want of decisive Congressional action. Is it quite safe, considering this fact, to give up the management of the party to a man whose knowledge of finance is as limited as his devotion to the well recognized principles of the Republican Party—to a man who has coquetted with repudiation and is a pronounced champion of inflation? Is it prudent to put forward as the most prominent and influential man in the party the counsel of Special Agent Jayne? Gen Butler is a Congressman who hires himself to defend a Government officer who has made enormous sums of money out of laws that Congress is asked to repeal. It is not a very delicate position to occupy, but it is quite in keeping with Butler's character, and the party representatives who obey the beck of Butler only invite for the party the odium that attaches to such a transaction.

There was a time when the prominence of men like Butler was, to a certain extent unavoidable, though we hardly think it was ever desirable. It was when the party had set for itself a few distinct and important aims, determined by the condition of affairs after the war. These aims Butler took good care to pursue with conspicuous zeal. The party, holding the end more important than the means, did not stop to criticise him, or others like him. He could be trusted on the strict party questions of the past ten years for he was ready to be faithful in these that he might have free swing in other directions. He cannot be trusted now, because it unfortunately turns out that his interests and those of pure and sound governmnet are not identical. We take the liberty of suggesting that the party and the country have had about enough of him, and of the self seeking, the arrogance, the want of principle and the generally low standard of political life which he represents.

SOME GOSSIP ABOUT CHIEF JUSTICE WAITE AND THE SUPREME COURT

To look upon he is a prosaic man of settled countenance a squarish head, indicative of harmonious thought and judgment, healthy, iron-gray hair, and solid, bilious complexion. He does not detract from the fine appearance of his associates, and has the Supreme Court manner to begin with. What events in history he may be fated to take part in and overrule or control, are closed in that unseen book which blind men guard. The first opinion of the Bench seems to be, that he is a plain, reasoning Western man, without flourish or precipitancy an infinite moral improvement on Caleb Cushing, and a more seemly promotion than that of Judge Williams.

The Supreme Court seems to me to be equal at its Bench and Bar at present, to any Bench and Bar in Christendom and to any period in its own history. Sometimes scandalous things are said of this man and that about it but slander is like a bird which stops at no height.

Higher still and higher
From the earth thou springest
And singing still dost soar and soaring ever singest

A certain class of attorneys passing the precincts of this Bar refuse to abide by its decisions, and cry bargain and sale. One of these recently came from California to prosecute Judge Field, who had disbarred him but not a respectable newspaper in the country would pay any attention to the charges. The Supreme Court is the most popular body in the Government, and the Justices are to a high degree social and democratic. Among the rumors around this Court is one that the Democratic leaders are again sounding the eligibility of Judge Davis for the Presidency.—Washington Cor Chicago Tribune

A QUEEN'S BON MOT—An amusing but amiable witticism is attributed to the Queen, which in its way is almost good enough to have been uttered by one of those recognized humorists who have occasionally adorned thrones. Some one at the Court had spoken disparagingly (of course) of the hostile criticisms pronounced by Sir Charles Dilke on the civil list. "It is strange," Queen Victoria is said to have replied, "for I remember having him as a boy on my knee and stroking his hair." "I suppose," added Her Majesty after a moment's pause, "I must have stroked it the wrong way."—London Cor N Y Times

A man named Harris was fined $50 and costs at McMinnville for using profane language in the presence of ladies during one of their visits in the saloon. This was an action under the law passed by our last Legislature, providing against profane or obscene language in unincorporated towns.

The [illegible] which [illegible] has not been [illegible] that [illegible] of the great [illegible] centers both at the East and in California [illegible] has become the subject of widespread and almost universal complaint [illegible] San Francisco says "the sluggishness now existing in nearly all departments of business is [illegible] by any lack of money or any [illegible] in loanable funds as the market is usually well supplied. The material interests of this country were never in a more promising condition [illegible] more to [illegible] plentiful [illegible] than [illegible] twelvemonth and there are large [illegible] available. Europe is in pressing need of [illegible] domestic productions and we possess an abundance wherewith to meet the demand. It is therefore [illegible] only a pity but criminal on the part of Congress to crush out much of this great prosperity by meddling with the currency which is sufficiently able to take care of itself if let alone."

In Chicago the supply of money for loans on mortgage is also in excess of the demand though rates of interest in those sections are much better sustained than for commercial loans. The rates for all sums of $5000 and upward are 9 per cent with 1 per cent commission for the negotiation thus making an annual cost of 10 per cent for a five year loan. For sums under $5000 or $3000 the general rate is 10 per cent with the same commission as above. Several of the prominent loan agents in that city say they have from $100 000 to $500 000 each that they would like to place at these rates, and it is probable that in the aggregate there is from $1 000 000 to $1 000 000 more offered in Chicago now at these rates that can be employed.

In New York the same excessive supply and dull demand is noticed by the leading papers, which also say that the surplus is likely to be increased early in the spring by a flow of currency from the West in the direction of that city. An exchange speaking of the situation says "No intelligent man dares venture a step. Capital retreats into vaults and safes waiting the moment when it can again fulfill its proper functions. Labor is quiet abiding the renewed movement of capital and enterprise is checked until it can again expand under the auspices of an April sun unclouded by legislative murkiness."

Trade with the Pacific Coast.

On this subject the New York Shipping List of March 24th says

"Trade with the Pacific coast has been more than usually active during February as is attested by the increased number of ships dispatched via the Cape and of steamers to the Isthmus to say nothing of the overland traffic. One reason of the increase in the Cape trade is the prospect of an unprecedented grain crop in California and Oregon which has led to an increased disposition to send ships there, with the consequence of a decline of about 15 to 25 per cent in the rates of freight since the opening of the year. This decline is partly due to the sharp competition and low rates by the Isthmus steamers from three to four ships a month having been dispatched by the Pacific Mail Company all loaded to their full capacity at less than half the rates exacted in years gone by. The trade from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic States is also large and improving the shipments of Barley to meet the heavy demand from brewers and maltsters having lately been large—the shipments of Barley by rail from San Francisco since January 1st closely approximating 100 000 centals at $1 50 in currency freight per cental. The shipments thence by water have also been considerable at $1 Gold per cental via Isthmus. The Pacific Mail Company announce that they are prepared to bring Tea from San Francisco to New York in twenty eight days at $10 Gold per short ton."

Grain and Provision Reports.

Chicago elevators at the commencement of business on Monday 9th inst., contained 7 448 738 bushels of grain embracing 3 401 193 bushels of Wheat 2,610 816 bushels of Corn, 910,709 bushels of Oats, 48 122 bushels of Rye and 281 606 bushels of Barley against 7,319,002 bushels one week ago and 10 317 287 bushels at this period last year.

Milwaukee warehouses at the close of business on Saturday, the 7th contained 2 362 247 bushels of Wheat 145 723 bushels of Corn 63 072 bushels of Oats 70,818 bushels of Rye and 29 938 bushels of Barley.

New York warehouses contain 1 320 000 bushels of Wheat 754 000 bushels of Corn 751 000 bushels of Oats 26 000 bushels of Rye 61 000 bushels of Barley 22 000 bushels of Malt and 1 300 bushels of Peas.

The visible supply of grain in the United States and Canada Feb 28th was Wheat 11 658 [illegible] bushels Corn 6 [illegible] 571 bushels Oats [illegible] 67 533 bushels Barley 901 164 bushels, Rye 206 682 bushels.

The exports of breadstuffs and provisions from the ports of Portland New York Philadelphia Baltimore Boston and New Orleans for the week ending March 7th were Flour 51 000 barrels Wheat 851 000 bushels Corn 275 000 bushels Pork 73 000 barrels Bacon 7,100 000 pounds Lard 7 3.3 000 pounds.

Home Produce Market.

Our quotations for grain and feed under this head always include sacks unless otherwise stated. The prices at which sacks are reckoned in this market are as follows. For wheat 8 cents per bushel oats 5 cents per bushel, barley 10 cents per 100 lbs feed $2 50@3 per ton.

The active preparations going on throughout the agricultural portions of our State have prevented the attendance of any large number of producers upon our market for the past few days and an apparent if not real dullness has prevailed. The receipts of produce however have been kept up and will aggregate quite as large as the average for some weeks preceding. These receipts however are principally of grain heretofore purchased flour from our State mills and other products from interior retail merchants. The rule in prices has been a uniform steadiness, to which there have been but few exceptions.

We deem it opportune here at the beginning of another season to suggest some things to the producing classes of Oregon, which may be of benefit to them and which are called out by recent but not new complaints of the manner in which various products are cared for packed and put upon the market. For instance we noticed some time ago that the apples shipped hence to San Francisco sold below the usual market rates because they were tainted by the pine boxes in which they were packed. Again it will be seen by reference to our telegraphic reports of the market in San Francisco that California butter sells at 37½ cents and Oregon do at 20 cents—for what reason we hardly know unless it be the bad reputation which our State has unfortunately got through carelessness of many and the criminality of others in preparing this article for the market and mixing with it lard, tallow and potatoes. We learn that one man standing well among his neighbors in an interior county who has sold large quantities of butter in the Portland market for years has made his boast that sometimes when butter was dear and potatoes cheap he had put a fourth or a third of potatoes into his butter. As long as such rascality goes unpunished honest producers will suffer in a measure. Again the practice which country merchants have of buying up eggs and keeping them on hand for a long time hoping for an advance has been the cause of a serious loss on the whole and should be discontinued. Let care and skill be used in the preparation of all commodities to be sold as in those for home consumption and we shall soon cease to witness the spectacle of Oregon butter selling in the San Francisco market at 0 a 2 cents while at the same time California butter sells in Portland at 40c 42 cents. Such has been the case in the last month.

WHEAT—The quietness of the market continues and exporters have refused some lots offered at $1 6 which rate millers are paying.

FLOUR—Choice or standard brands of extra are quotable at $5 per bbl outside brands [illegible] fine $4 50 superfine $4 50.

A Rare Chance for a Good Physician.

AS MY HEALTH IS IN SUCH A CONDITION that I cannot endure the exposure and hard ship consequent upon a country practice I offer to sell my residence situated in Hillsboro the County Seat of Washington County Oregon upon the most reasonable terms with a good practice thrown in the extent of which may be ascertained by addressing the undersigned or examining his books personally.

The property consists of 2 lots 100x200 feet each enclosed with a picket fence and sidewalks in front located on Main st Hillsboro 1 block from the Court House with a good dwelling house office and barn also a never failing well of water. Included in and various fruit trees and vines growing thriftily. All of which I will sell for $1 000 in cash or one half cash and the remaining half on one year's credit with 1 per cent interest secured by mortgage.

Title guaranteed.

I will also sell a No 1 Saddle Horse with Saddle Bridle and Saddlebags together with Household Furniture if desired at a greatly reduced price.

Hillsboro is situated in one of the most wealthy farming localities in the State and has a population of about 300 inhabitants and has a railroad running through the place. There is but one practising physician in the place excepting myself and he gives as much business as he can do.

My object for selling is to leave the State and for the purpose of commencing city practice. Any good Physician wishing to get a country practice cannot find a better place and will do well to call and see for himself or address [illegible] Address as above,
